

A woman wearing a red puffer jacket and a striped beanie sits on a large, moss-covered rock. A brown dog sits next to her, looking towards the right. The background is a steep, mossy rock face with some hanging vines. The scene is set in a forest with fallen leaves on the ground.

I have dedicated my life to pet welfare innovations. In my eyes, dog ownership is about caring and taking responsibility. In return, dogs bring joy into our lives. It is no surprise that dog owners believe the value of the time spent with their pets has increased significantly. 25 years ago, we recognised the necessity to design gear that would enable owners to spend as much time as possible with their dogs.

This is what led to our creating of the dog harness that sends the following message:

GO TOGETHER! AND DO SO EVERY DAY.

This is the lifestyle we became pioneers in with the Powerharness.

Local production is sustainable.

For us, environmental awareness starts with using European materials and employing European labour in our high-quality production process. We believe that by maintaining control over the production of textiles, straps, metal and plastic parts, it is feasible to provide dogs with a product that lasts a lifetime.
